BioOne

BEGINNER'S GUIDE

COVERAGE: Provides full-text coverage of nearly 100 high-impact biological, ecological, and environmental science research journals. Titles are added regularly.

ACCESS: From the Library Web Page (www.ius.edu/Library), click on "Article and Database Search" (under FIND INFORMATION.) Scroll down to the Alphabetical List and select BioOne. (From off-campus, login as prompted.)

BASIC INSTRUCTIONS:

1. Select "Search" from the menu across the top of the page.
2. Type in the terms you are searching for in the appropriate boxes. You may search by author (above the "Select journal" box) or keywords (below the Select Journal box). Select "All Journals" or a specific journal from the pull-down menu. If desired, select date range, or leave as "All."
3. To view the article at the Search Results page, click on "Full-text" and scroll down to read.
4. To print the article, click on "Full text" at the citation, and use browser print option. For PDF, wait for the article to download into Acrobat Reader, click on the printer icon within the Acrobat screen, and then use your browser print option

SPECIAL NOTE: There are links to some of the referenced articles and related resources in the text of the article and in the bibliography at the end of the article. To connect to these resources, click on the blue citation.
