

Teaching in a Religiously Diverse Environment

An Evening Workshop for All Educators

Sponsored by the Center for Cultural Resources at Indiana University Southeast

April 19, 2007, 3:30PM-6:30PM, Community Montessori Charter School

Agenda

3:30PM-4:00PM Review of Materials and Interviews with Montessori Teachers

4:00PM-5:00PM Dr. Marcia Texler Segal (Indiana University Southeast) and Dr. Edwin S. Segal (University of Louisville): PowerPoint!
Teaching in a Religiously Diverse Environment

5:00PM-5:30PM Mini-Seder with refreshments

5:30PM-6:30PM Paddlewheel of People and Resources

Many thanks to Montessori for hosting this event.

The School is located at 4102 Saint Joseph Road, New Albany, IN 47150

The workshop will include legal and pedagogical issues involved in teaching about religions in pre-K-12 schools, on-line and print sources of materials to teach about religion, and information about some religious groups whose members are likely to be found in local classrooms. Marcia Texler Segal (sociologist) and Edwin S. Segal (anthropologist) teach about religion to university students, community groups, and pre-service and in-service teachers. As part of the workshop, the Segals will lead those attending in an abbreviated version of the Passover seder.

Clip and mail by *April 5 to Melanie Hughes, 4201 Grant Line Rd., LB 122B, Indiana University Southeast,

New Albany, IN 47150. Duplicate copies as needed. PLEASE POST for sharing with colleagues.

Registration Fees: Make checks payable to Indiana University Southeast.

$10 for Educators and Others

$5 for Students (ID required upon entry)

*Fees cover cost of materials and food and are guaranteed only for registrations postmarked by April 5, 2007.*

Circle/Add: Educator Student Home Schooler Other _____ Level/Area

_____

Name _____
_____

Phone (____)

Address _____
_____

E-Mail