

IU Southeast Graduating Student Survey: Career Development Center Report

BACKGROUND

The Indiana University Southeast Graduating Student Survey is administered to students when they apply for graduation and collects data regarding post-graduation plans, employment and income, applied learning experiences, factors influencing student satisfaction with their experiences at IU Southeast, diversity and culture, campus safety and self-perceived levels of abilities. This multi-year report is intended to provide information regarding how these data have changed from year to year and to support decision-making that facilitate change in response to the dynamic needs of the student population.

Individual question response rate varies. We include partial responses in the report and, unless otherwise indicated, non-respondents are excluded in tabled data counts and percentages.

For the third year in a row, the fields of education and business were the most considered areas for additional degree programs. When comparing the two groups, education was the predominant area of interest for the graduate respondents, while business was the predominant area for the undergraduates, though education followed closely behind.

While the majority of both graduate and undergraduate respondents continue to be employed, graduate respondents remained employed at a rate similar to that of 2018 (within 1%), while undergraduates saw a slight decline in employment (3% decrease compared to 2018 and 2017). The 2019 data also saw more graduate respondents reporting that they were employed but seeking employment change.

When graduate and undergraduate responses are combined, the largest annual gross salary category remains under $25,000. However, when separating the two student groups, the differences are striking but not unexpected. Over 60% of the undergraduates fall in the under $25,000 category with no other category exceeding 10%. For the graduates, more than half (56%) of the respondents earned between $40,000 and $60,000 per year, with the predominant salary range being $40,000 to $44,999.
